2. What cookies and similar technologies are

Cookies are small data files stored on, or accessed from, a computer, phone, tablet or other device when a website is used. Similar technologies can include local storage, pixels, tags, scripts and other technologies which store information on a device or access information already stored there.

These technologies can be used to make a website work, maintain security, remember choices, understand how a website is used and, where applicable, support analytics or marketing.

3. How our website uses these technologies

Our website is built and hosted using Wix. Wix places certain cookies and similar technologies which are required for the security, stability and core operation of the website. Depending on the features, applications or integrations enabled on the website, additional technologies may also be used.

We group technologies into the following broad categories:

- Essential or strictly necessary: used for security, fraud prevention, core website operation, network management and functions which are necessary to provide a service requested by a visitor. These may be used without consent where an applicable exemption applies.
- Functional or preference: used to remember choices or improve the way the website appears or functions. Where the law permits use without consent, we will provide the information and means of objection required by law; otherwise we will obtain consent.
- Analytics or statistics: used to understand how visitors use the website and to improve it. Where we rely on the statutory statistical-purpose exception, the use will be limited to that purpose and visitors will be given a simple and free means of objecting. In other cases, analytics technologies will be used only with consent.
- Marketing or tracking: used for advertising, cross-site tracking, profiling or similar marketing purposes. We will not use these technologies unless the required consent has been obtained.

4. Core Wix cookies

The list above is based on Wix's published information for core Wix cookies. Our website may use additional cookies or similar technologies which are not in that table where a Wix feature, third-party application or other integration is enabled.

5. Additional and third-party technologies

Some website functions or services may be provided by Wix applications or by third parties. Where enabled, these may include analytics tools, embedded content, forms, maps, security tools or other website functionality. Such services may set their own cookies or use other storage and access technologies.

We will periodically review the technologies used on the website. Where our cookie consent mechanism or website scan identifies a non-essential technology, it will be categorised and managed in accordance with the applicable consent or objection requirements. If a third party processes personal information, further information about that processing may also be provided in our Privacy Notice or by the relevant third party.

6. Consent, objections and changing your preferences

When consent is required, non-essential cookies and similar technologies will not be used until you have made a choice through the cookie consent mechanism. You can accept or refuse non-essential categories and, where available, choose which categories you wish to allow.

You may change or withdraw your cookie choices at any time using the cookie or privacy settings available on the website. Where we rely on an exception which requires a simple means of objecting rather than consent, that objection mechanism will also be made available without charge.

Withdrawing consent or objecting will not affect the lawfulness of any use which took place before your preference was changed.

7. Browser and device settings

Most browsers and devices allow you to view, delete or block cookies and to change privacy settings. The method varies by browser or device. Blocking essential cookies may affect the operation of the website or prevent some functions from working correctly.

Browser or device settings do not necessarily replace the choices available through our website cookie consent mechanism, particularly where a website-specific preference needs to be recorded.

8. Personal information

Some cookies and similar technologies may involve the processing of personal information, for example an IP address, device identifier, browser information or information about how the website is used. Where personal information is processed, the UK GDPR and the Data Protection Act 2018 may also apply.

Further information about how we collect, use, share, retain and protect personal information, and about your data protection rights, is contained in our Privacy Notice available through www.rahimahmedsolicitors.co.uk.

9. Changes to this Cookie Notice

We may update this Cookie Notice when our website, the technologies we use or the applicable legal requirements change. The date at the beginning of this notice shows when it was last updated. We will also review the website after material changes to features, applications or integrations which may affect the cookies or similar technologies in use.
